

Our Interview with Nubian Jak Community Trust

By Teo & Habib

- What made you get the idea to make this?

2014 was the centenary of WWI and it became increasingly apparent that there were no memorials in the UK specifically dedicated to African and Caribbean service personnel who served in WWI and WWII

- Why did you make it?

The Nubian Jak Community Trust decided to create the Memorial Project so these brave soldiers could be commemorated and remembered

- Where you got the information from?

The information was research in books, museums, on-line, as well working with a number of historians and the MOD

- How are you planning to present it to the general public?

The African and Caribbean Memorial involves two monuments designed in the shape of Obelisks. It will be installed on Windrush Day ,(22 June 2016)on Windrush Square, Brixton, London SW2

- Did you include any of the war veterans to assist?

A number of veterans groups and surviving WW2 veterans will be involved in the unveiling

- How will you make the public aware of your work and your memorial?

We are hoping that our promotional video - I HAVE A SONG -will help raise public awareness of our historic memorial

- Where can we find out more?
